ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

The invention relates to methods of evaluating the specific function of a receptor protein tyrosine kinase in cells. The methods activate the receptor in a ligand independent fashion. In addition, the invention includes methods of identifying compounds that modulate receptor protein tyrosine kinase function.